ASPECT: Application to Problems in Long-Term Tectonics

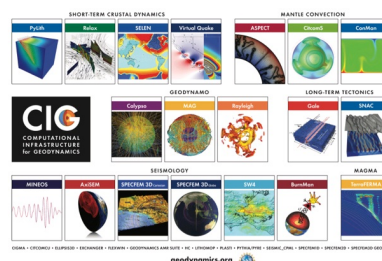

While ASPECT was specifically designed to solve large-scale convection problems in the Earth's mantle, the flexibility of its design permits examining solid Earth processes across a wide range of spatial and temporal scales. Given this flexibility, a number of groups have begun applying ASPECT to long-term tectonic processes, such as subduction and continental extension, which require modeling both viscous and brittle behavior ... Many thanks to outgoing EC members Bruce Buffet and David Bercovici, and SSC members Brad Aagaard and Tim Ahern and to our nominating committee Laurent Montesi, Clint Conrad, and Matt Knepley for their contributions to the community. New EC and SSC members will be announced at the CIG Business Meeting during 2016 AGU Fall Meeting.

Annual Business Meeting

CIG will hold its Annual Business Meeting on Monday, December 12 at the Intercontinental San Francisco. The Intercontinental is just around the corner from Moscone Center West. The reception begins at 6pm followed by the business meeting at 7pm. Light hors d'oeuvres will be served. Discussions will include CIG III and results from the 2016 EC and SSC elections. See our website for more information and directions. [more info]
